Woodworker: Javelins, Warden Carvings and Battle Hymns are crafted by woodworkers. Scholar: Scrolls of Battle and Warding Lore are consumables used at all levels. Further in this section, I will be discussing the most useful skills when DPS'ing or playing as a Tank. Basic Warden skills build up their Gambit chain, which can be spent to unleash special Gambit skills. These Builders apply a buff to the Warden and add a Spear, Shield, Fist or Javelin icon at the end of the sequence in the Gambit Panel on the player's screen. Most of their skills are Gambits: skills that need to be built from special sequences of basic attacks or Gambit Builders. Two trait trees can be used to improve your damage: The Recklessness (red) trait tree is generally the preferred choice. From level 20 onwards, they can carry Warden Carvings. However, the capstone trait Seize the Moment gives a chance for these skills to remove the cooldown on your Mastery skills. See Warden Items Index for an overview of all items. As a Warden, the following professions are good fits: Tailor: being able to craft medium armour you can wear, makes this one of your best choices. When you are mostly soling however, the crafted items have to be useful to you. DPS A Warden can compete with most other common classes for DPS roles. Since they minimally last for 24 seconds (and longer with certain bonuses), a number of them can be kept up at all times and result in a lot of damage over time. At level 30, they gain "Master Training" traits for all usable weapon types: this increases their damage slightly, but more importantly improves the small bonuses each weapon type has. The hope tokens are consumables used at all levels. There are three trait trees to choose from: determination (blue): a construction of tanks that increases the defenses while cure, capable of surviving the attacks of many enemies at a time. However, its strength is not in a quick damage with hunters and champions, but on damage over a longer period of time. However, depending on the mechanic of the fight, it could consider using other gambits. Making an effective use of these domain skills is essential to become a good alcaver. Cooking: Food can consume food, which makes the cook a good option for you too. Equipment The Guardia is a kind of medium armor and can use almost all weapons and a javelin (see passive skills). In addition, its points effects are only stacked once, making a second DPS director in a suboptimal group. Tank ... Down, the most important skills are listed. It is also the only class that Warden shields can use, which are a little harder than normal shields. Like the profession of wood, this option becomes less interesting at higher levels. The assault (yellow) The trait tree is mainly focused on improving the damage and debuffs of javelin skills. Gunsmith: Here you can make metal weapons and shields. They can produce reasonable damages of unique objectives, as well as the effect of effect effect (AOE). The ability of Capstone, the imprudence considerably increases its damage for a short time. For a complete list of skills, see Warden's skills. These are special skills that immediately give two gambit icons, without using the basic attacks of the constructor and winning their fans. On the one hand, they can deal with a large amount of sustained damage, when trusting a great bleeding or stitches ("damage to effects"). Both lines mainly use the same skills and bleeds, but I will focus on the mechanics of the red line. On the other hand, they can draw the attention of the enemies and use gambites that apply to the temporary buffs to a Defenses or HOTS ("Cure over time"). Panel of gambites with the power attack gambit. At higher levels, you may begin to use legendary weapons and, therefore, this profession becomes less interesting. It has several prawns that apply strengths to one or more targets. Note that these are all production professions, but the components used in your recipes can only be obtained by the appropriate compilation professions: this makes the explorer vocations, Tinker, Yeoman and Woodsman's good choices for solitary gaming, due to their self-sufficiency. Essay (Yellow): a line of support remotely that returns enemy while dealing with significant damage from a distance, useful when fighting alone or on a scholarship. In addition to the bleeds of these skills, there are also some bleeds that are applied in other ways. In addition, you can create oils, which change the type of damage of some of your javelin skills, as well as class specific consumables for other classes. Unwise (red): a powerful damaging construction that stacks bleeding from a single target with the potential of sweeping AoE blows. In scholarships, a guard forces the enemies to attack them, so that the enemies will not be harmed with their weakest allies. enemies
