Eulogy Template for a Father, from a Daughter

Dad -- _____, _____, _____, _____, _____, and my _____ Our Dad brought the world around him to life. _____, _____, _____, and laughter, were incredibly important to him. With a joke never far from his mind and a _____, he lit up every room. I'm filled with pride when I think about how much he meant to our family and the people who sit before me.

Dad grew up in _____. He lived in a _____ home with his _____ siblings and parents. Tales from his childhood are full of _____, _____, and _____ in the _____. He would talk about _____, it was during _____ that he first fell in love with _____.

It was the pull of _____ that took him to _____. In a little town called _____, he met our mum. As friends first, they'd get together to _____ just for a _____. During these _____, their friendship blossomed into a big, once-in-a-lifetime love. It was a love they were lucky to share until Dad's very last breath.

As with all great love stories, there was a wedding followed by the birth of my _____ and then finally me. Life for our family of _____ was full of _____. We grew up with weekends spent by _____, Dad loved the _____ and he taught us how to _____, _____, _____, _____ -- you name it, we learnt it. As a teacher he was _____, _____ and _____. As we grew older, he was still our first stop for all sorts of advice; from _____ to _____. Dad was our _____, steering us safely through life.

Passionate about his work in _____, many of his colleagues became his friends and eventually extended members of our family. I never told Dad, but his _____ and _____ to _____ has always inspired me. No matter the issue, he never gave up. And as many of you here know, his favourite saying was "_____".

Later in life, Dad found more time for _____. He'd take off for a weekend of _____ with mum by his side and a _____ in the _____. The best weekends were the ones that family and friends joined too. It was such precious time together, that we're so lucky to have shared. When Dad wasn't _____, he was _____ a _____, a _____ a _____ -- he wanted to experience it all.

And, now he's on his biggest adventure of all. So, today we say goodbye to our _____. We say goodbye to a man who loved _____ and _____. It's a love we can only hope to match as we move through our lives without you. Here's to you Dad, we miss you so much.

Eulogy Template

I start by acknowledging my mourners (close family etc) so that they know they are included. This part makes a space for the reader to start thinking as they read the eulogy away from themselves and the person they have lost to a third party.

Once written, into a word reading system I then move on to short, interesting biographical details. Sign, when they read, and they respond, react and connect to the message. Use the person's hobby and outgoing, quiet and reserved, helpful, dependable etc. It will help to have stories around which to help the reader.

At this point, the stories are more relevant and so the reader.

I then make the narrative to personal anecdotes (often this includes contributions/homages/tributes from close friends and family. This serves to honour and glorify memories, which helps bring the session on the scene and it's people focus from the death to celebrating the life of their loved one.

People have lost the initial "heat" of the situation they find themselves in and are able to emotionally give thanks for each individual, the life of the deceased at this point. It is time to wrap up with words that acknowledge and accept how hard the loss will be and how difficult the long journey forward.

But the legacy and memories of the person they have loved and lost will give them the strength to look forward as they inevitably will.

Rose Ann's Eulogy

Good morning. Most of you know me, but if not, my name is Carol Branch.

I am Rose Ann's niece and it is my honor to share my thoughts about her with you today. As I was preparing for this eulogy, I was hitting a road block in getting started. So, I went to Eulogy.com for some help. In my search, I didn't find one template I liked or worked well for what I wanted to say about my aunt.

However, one site suggested you should view the eulogy as a final gift to a loved one. So Aunt Roe, this one is for you. I hope you approve.

Rose Ann was born to Louis and Lena Tapella on November 5, 1942. She was the youngest of four children. When I asked my mom about her memories of my aunt growing up, my mom said she was much older and moved out of her parents' house shortly after my aunt was born. In fact, my aunt was flower girl in my parents' wedding. My Uncle Chuck responded, I don't remember much except that I had a "bratty sister" 5 years younger than me. However all mentioned the comment my aunt made about my Uncle Jim. Growing up they had a dog. At one
