Privacy Policy: of use: Email: support@grovestreetgames.com 10 Jun, 2021 version 2.0.25 -Bug fixes and improvements of stability let me start by saying that ark is one of the best and most fun mobile games. But OMG How many creatures are just the mode of op. The parasour is just so fast whenever I try to throw one out to escape and I can never recover with it, not to mention the fact that it stops only for a single second. There are more but I only know of my general idea. This game looks honestly more difficult then the PC version. Since you cannot see how clearly because of the graphics and buttons on the screen makes it even more difficult to play. Not to mention your in the water and you have fifty megapirahnas behind you. Middle game all the time and it's really stressful that I think I wouldn't have happened unless you choose the hard or above mode. Now I played this game for two days, but from what I can see it doesn't seem to be a way to save your game. With what I intend to save him and how to make a new game while you still saved that game. For example, if I finished playing and saving my game and the next day I want to do another game that I would still like to be able to return to my original next. The last thing I want to change is to add a different option to keep the arch and arrows. The double faucet does not work. Àz ~ à Ç e I did not expect to write this very Àz à "ç. I hope you can consider these things this game is fantastic, even in single player mode, which always plays! There are so many things to build and so many creatures to discover! At this time I have a city of buildings and a Dodo farm in this game! Even the prizes are fantastic, so all the things I've always wanted in a game are in Ark! Some people say there are glitches or insects in the game, but almost I see them at all at all, and those I see I don't see nor does not affect the game or can be ignored. Even when you die in the game, you can grab all your items, and even when the items are lost, all resources can be easily collected and are never blocked or impossible to get. Here is a list of bugs / glitches I've seen. None of these is really important, but it would slightly improve the game if they were solved: Comparty following me, a graphic error on the trees when you reduce them, two groups of the same object in different slots, small pet remaining stuck in the air after I destroyed the Rock which was standing, Dodos is stuck on each other, the animals that get their heads blocked in the walls (LOL), coloring problems at night, That says the cooking pot / fire field has a zero fuel when it actually has over one hundred fuel when it is turned on, and everything is everything. Thank you for the excellent game, but fix errors to improve the gameplay of other players and I. Thank you very much. Ark is one of the best games on mobile devices, and I spent spent Most of the time to play by far. It is much better than a lot of open games survive games with best graphics and fewer limitations. The only problem I have anomalous arrests. I almost always play on multiplayer servers, and there is a lot of delay. Once I was doing the search to ride the island on a raft, but if you leave the raft the search is restored. I had two hours and no less than one kilometer from the completion of the research when I crashed. I was crashed before a catch and when I returned I was fine because I was still on the raft. This time, on the other hand, I was moving the fastest when the raft could go, so when I logged in on which I was no longer a couple of meters from the raft, but this was all to make the search reset . Two hours of progress just long discharge. Better than when I lost two months when I was swept away from the haphas ... I love PVE now. I know how I'm doing this sound like a horrible game, but it's really amazing. There is nothing better than I finally ask that Griffin you were waiting for in the last two hours. All I'm saying is to make sure you have some time for your hands to enter the highest levels, and not be afraid to lose progress. Overall, it's one of the best games.
