Pandas: Cuttiest of all Bears

Bears, Big Cats, and More

What do you know about giant pandas? Read and complete the activity. Find out more about these gentle giant bears. Circle the correct words. Write the words you don't know.

Introduction

The giant panda has distinctive black and white fur with black patches on its face and shoulders. Unlike other bear species, giant pandas only eat bamboo. They can spend up to 12 hours a day chewing bamboo shoots and roots. Because of poaching and habitat loss, they are currently listed as endangered. They are found only in small populations in the bamboo forests of China. Despite being the subject of major international conservation efforts, the population of giant pandas has only slowly increased.

Panda's Territory: Where do pandas come from?

Giant pandas live in the mountainous regions of China. For a very long time, in fact, giant pandas were considered a national treasure in China. It is protected by law in China. Giant pandas are found in the wild in a few small reserves.

Although giant pandas have long been known to the Chinese, they were first brought to the west in 1862. The first westerner to observe a giant panda in the wild was a British explorer. He was the first to see a giant panda in the wild. He brought a cub with him to the west.

At Panda's Place: Where do pandas live?

There is only one place where giant pandas live in the world today. It is in the mountains of China. There, they live in a few small reserves. They live in a cool and wet bamboo forest. They eat bamboo every day and drink a lot of water. They are very shy and live in small groups. They are very cute and very fluffy. They are very smart and very strong. They are very beautiful and very interesting. They are very special and very important. They are very loved and very respected. They are very happy and very healthy. Matoaka was the beautiful and lively daughter of Powhatan, ruler of the land that the English named Virginia. "Pocahontas" was her childhood nickname, translated as "little wanton," meaning she was playful and hard to control. She was her father's favourite, "the apple of his eye"

Pocahontas is most famous for saving the life of Captain John Smith. Disney's Pocahontas was their first story based on a historic event, not another fairy tale. Of course, Disney changed the facts, but here is the original story.

In 1607 the English established a colony at Jamestown, Virginia. One day, during 1608, Captain John Smith and some of his men were captured by Indians while they were out searching for food. Captain Smith's men were all killed and he was taken to Chief Powhatan. The mighty Indian Chief ordered that Smith be killed. At the last moment, the Chief's daughter, 13 year old Pocahontas, saved Captain Smith's life.

In 1613, when she was 18 years old, Pocahontas was baptized as a Christian. She also took the "Christian" name of Rebecca. During this time, Pocahontas was engaged to Kocoum, but she fell in love with John Rolfe and he with her. They got married and she got the name of Lady Rebecca Rolfe. Pocahontas and John had a child named Thomas. In 1616, John, Pocahontas and their son all traveled to England where they met King James and Queen Anne. As they prepared to come back home to Virginia in 1617, Pocahontas became ill and died. She was buried in England.
